

BSU Sociology Capstone Spring 2021

Immersive Learning Project with Community Partner: Second Harvest Food Bank

Partnering with Second Harvest Food Bank, this immersive learning project aims to examine the needs of the community through application of sociological knowledge to synthesize research and literature to serve the community.

Sociology:

Sociology is the study of the development, structure, interaction, and collective behavior of organized groups of human beings. Through research, data analysis and study of conventional social standards and societal norms, sociology immerses you in a well-rounded program that prepares you for graduate study or for a career in fields that involve investigative skills and working with diverse groups.

Interview

We are Ball State students helping Second Harvest learn how they can improve the experience here at this school's event. We appreciate your time and willingness to complete our interview. We request that those participating are over 18. None of your personal information will be shared with Second Harvest.

You can stop or skip questions at any time. Thank you!

1. How did you learn about Second Harvest and its services?

2. What factors led you to participate in this program and attend this food distribution event?

3. What has your experience been like with the food distribution events and your child's school?

4. Is there an experience that you have had with school food distribution events that sticks out to you?
How did that experience make you feel?

5. How has COVID-19 impacted your family's ability to get resources? What role has Second Harvest provided and what role have they played?

6. What do you wish other members of this school knew about these food pickup opportunities?
